$1,900 a year. "I'd like to have the $1,900 and I want it bad," he asserted. Whileman said he did not expect the newspaper men to speak his praises, as they are here in a business capacity.

W. Banks Dove, assistant secretary of state, candidate to succeed R. M. McCown as secretary, discussed the educational needs of the state, told of his eight years' experience in the secretary of state's office and how this had prepared him to handle the "big propositions" that come up in that office. He received scattered applause.

Attacks Opponent.

D. W. McLaurin's address, as candidate for state treasurer, was featured by charge he made against S. T. Carter the incumbent. He said Carter sent his daughters to Winthrop college without paying tuition by taking a pauper's oath. He asserted that Carter had money aplenty to pay for his children's education. The speaker charged his opponent with a refusal to furnish him certain figures relative to business transacted in the office of state treasurer.

S. T. Carter, state treasurer, following McLaurin on the stand vehemently denied his opponent's charges. He stated that he had taken a pauper's oath shortly after his home was burned and that at that time he was unable to pay the college tuition. The speaker asserted that now he had accumulated some property he had remedied this matter. He admitted that he was president of a bank, stating that this was of great assistance to him in handling the affairs of state treasurer.

Albert S. Fant, of Bolton, candidate for railroad commissioner, featured his remarks with a plea to the people of the Piedmont section to rally around a candidate from this section, stating that no holder of an important state office at this time hailed from this section. He was given considerable applause.

G. McDuffie Hampton, the incumbent, told of the value his experience as railroad commissioner had been to him in fulfilling the duties incident to that office and asked for reelection. Dr. W. H. Kelly of Spartanburg, another candidate for that office, admitted that he was not a speaker but asked the people of the Piedmont to support him. He said it would be well if some of the "big talkers" were better business men than orators.

D. W. Throver of Chesterfield, the fourth candidate for railroad commissioner to speak, cited his hearers to certain cases showing the advantage of proper shipping facilities and attempted to show what good rates had done for the Piedmont section. James Cansler of Tipton was roundly applauded and kept the crowd in a good humor throughout his address. He said he wanted to introduce the crowd to "Gov. of Cooper" when he finished his talk. This produced vociferous applause. He said Blease and Teddy Roosevelt seemed to never know when they are whipped. And there is another, the speaker said; James Cansler.

Cooper Applauded. The applause that greeted Robert A. Cooper was almost a demonstration. The speaker's remarks were along the same lines as his Spartanburg address, dealing mainly with the educational need in South Carolina and a protest against free scholarships and tuitions; stating that in his opinion, worthy boys should be loaned money by the state, to be repaid when they receive their education. The crowd yelled "hurrah for Governor Cooper," when the speaker deplored the injustice practiced in certain criminal court cases, where the rich defendant went free and the poor offender was forced to go to the penitentiary and chafe at the bars or pay the penalty in the death chair.

Joe Madison Deschamps, in the opinion of many of his hearers, is better fitted for chautauque work than stump speaking. He instantly made a hit with the crowd and was rapidly cheered. After telling numerous amusing anecdotes, the speaker summed up his address by declaring himself in favor of corporations, which, in his opinion, do untold good in a state.

Joe T. Duncan got scant applause when he began his address, but before he concluded had everybody laughing and paying him close attention. He scored "the system" which runs things in South Carolina. W. A. Clark pulling the strings. Pointing to Blease Duncan asserted that even the ex-governor has been guilty of endorsing C. A. Woods, one of the leaders.

Fears Trouble.

Governor Manning got considerable applause after his speech had gotten well under way. He stated in the outset that while he was not an alarmist he was forced to admit that the country is facing a serious situation down in Mexico. He paid a high tribute to the "Pancho Villa" movement, which he said could be so disastrous if they went to Mexico. He said he had done everything possible to encourage employees to pay their men who were enlisted for better duty. Governor Manning summed up with an outline of the improvement made in the condition of the state prison under his administration. He stated that he found conditions in the prison when he first visited the place. The governor drew much applause when he produced a note to show that the prisoners were being treated better.

He said he was the only one who could see the situation and was the only one who was not allowing only the good for the position. He said he was the only one who was not allowing only the good for the position. He said he was the only one who was not allowing only the good for the position.

error, was roundly applauded when he arose to speak. He was the last speaker, but not a person left the crowd. The ex-governor prefaced his remarks by stating that the gifts presented Governor Manning were the prettiest he had ever seen on a like occasion, and stated that the governor could use the silver cup to hold baptismal water for his first term and the flowers for the funeral of his second. Blease bitterly scored the extravagance of the Manning administration, citing the money expended for the board of charities in Columbia as an example. The ex-governor had the greater part of the crowd going his way, and as he rapidly rounded into his old form there was much cheering. He scored the pets and satellites of the present administration, whom he said had been given many fat jobs. When Blease had his address well under way he was forced to stop and call down a man in the front of the crowd who was talking too loud. The interruption lasted only a minute. The ex-governor told the crowd he was not a prohibitionist, neither in theory nor in practice and stated that he would take a drink openly anytime he felt so inclined. In discussing the state asylum affair, he asserted that certain people were now saying that the riddance of Babcock and Sanders, a blessing and were praising the "40,000 beauty" now at the head of the sanitarium.

The candidates will speak in Pickens tomorrow and will go from there to Walhalla, speaking here Saturday.

Feeding Alfalfa to Horses.

Clemson College, June 21.—It is not well to feed alfalfa hay in too large quantities to brood mares, and this is a matter in which precaution should be taken. Horses tend to become bloated if allowed to overfeed on alfalfa hay, especially if the hay is in a more or less green stage. It is always advisable when alfalfa hay is to be fed to horses to allow the alfalfa to remain in the field until well matured. The danger of bloating in horses is especially great in the case of mares in foal, which are likely to overeat. These precautions are not necessary in feeding alfalfa to cattle and, in fact, the green alfalfa hay is very desirable for dairy cattle. Good results have been obtained in feeding brood mares by limiting their alfalfa to one-third of the total amount of roughage fed to them.

URIC ACID IN MEAT
CLOGS THE KIDNEYS

Take a Glass of Salts if Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their effort to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, distress, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful after-dinner drink.

Copperheads Guard Fishing Place. Coatesville, Pa., June 21.—Hugo copperheads guard one of the best fishing places in Chester county, according to the story told by a Coatesville man. According to this angle, the section about Hibernia, especially the Swaine farm, of about 500 acres, is infested by a colony of copperheads without number, and the fishermen who visit that section are in danger every foot of the way.

DRINK HOT WATER
EVERY MORNING

Hopes every man and woman here will adopt this splendid health habit.

Says a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it washes poisons from system, and makes one feel clean, sweet and fresh.

Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried; some days headache, dull and unstrung; some days really incapacitated by illness.

If we all would practice the drinking of phosphated hot water before breakfast, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-sick, anaemic-looking souls with pasty, muddied complexions we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-cheeked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out, else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons in the bowels which are absorbed into the blood.

Just as necessary as it is to clean the ashes from the furnace each day, before the fire will burn bright and hot, so we must each morning clear the inside organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women, whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomachs, sick headaches, rheumatism, lumbago, nervous days and sleepless nights have become real cranks about the morning inside bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate to everyone its cleansing, sweetening and refreshing effect upon the system.
